

Water Treatment Unit Catches Fire

Water Treatment Unit Catches Fire

The City of Alcoa Public Works and Engineering Department announced today that one of its old treatment units caught fire today at approximately 12:48 p.m.

The City of Alcoa Public Works and Engineering Department announced today that one of its old treatment units caught fire today at approximately 12:48 p.m. The tank, located at the site of the City's abandoned water treatment plant, was in the process of being demolished by Southern Constructors / Total Demolition Services when the blaze occurred. There was no danger to the public or surrounding community and no one was injured as a result of the fire. The City of Alcoa Fire Department had the fire under control at 1:25 p.m.

2007.09.20